

Task Description

You and your conversation partner will take part in a conversation roleplaying a pair of roommates moving into a new apartment. A floor plan is provided, that shows the apartment you have agreed to rent. This plan contains a labeled bathroom and kitchen, the location of a road and lake nearby and four unassigned rooms labeled 'A' through 'D'. The task is to negotiate and decide on a room layout, assigning each participant's bedroom, the dining room and the living room. An example floor plan is illustrated in figure 1. You each have been given your personal preferences. You should not directly reveal this information. During the conversation, exchange various arguments based for example on the floor plan at hand and personal preferences.
