

Scenario: Mountains*Participant 1

On a mountain hike, an avalanche occurred that destroyed most of your base camp. You and two fellow travellers could climb out of the snow. Unfortunately the avalanche carried away your mountain guide and you could not find him. Your base camp is located a three day walk from the next village, on a height which does not require oxygen supply. The weather is good, but you need to expect temperatures below -15° C. You are all wearing winter clothes and mountain boots. Not all of the camping gear was buried: you could find some items.

Scenario: Mountains*Participant 0

On a mountain hike, an avalanche occurred that destroyed most of your base camp. You and two fellow travellers could climb out of the snow. Unfortunately the avalanche carried away your mountain guide and you could not find him. Your base camp is located a three day walk from the next village, on a height which does not require oxygen supply. The weather is good, but you need to expect temperatures below -15° C. You are all wearing winter clothes and mountain boots. Not all of the camping gear was buried: you could find some items.

Scenario: Mountains*Participant 2

On a mountain hike, an avalanche occurred that destroyed most of your base camp. You and two fellow travellers could climb out of the snow. Unfortunately the avalanche carried away your mountain guide and you could not find him. Your base camp is located a three day walk from the next village, on a height which does not require oxygen supply. The weather is good, but you need to expect temperatures below -15° C. You are all wearing winter clothes and mountain boots. Not all of the camping gear was buried: you could find some items.

Climbing gear with reserve helmet

A camping kettle with mounting

Folding knife

A mountaineer's axe

Camping tent

An animal trapping

A case of army rations

Binoculars

A thermos bottle

A sleeping mat

Box of matches

A fishing kit